Peer group: Dynamic Planner Risk Profile 4. Performance is calculated on a total return basis in GBP terms. The value of the underlying funds and the income generated from them can go down as well as up, and is not guaranteed. Investors may not get back the original amount invested. The value of investments involving exposure to foreign currencies can be affected by currency exchange rate fluctuations. Past performance is not a guide to future performance.

Monthly commentary

- Markets continued to navigate a complex backdrop in June, balancing resilient economic data and corporate earnings against persistent inflationary pressures and ongoing geopolitical uncertainty. While global equity markets paused after a particularly strong second quarter, risk assets generally remained well supported by expectations of continued earnings growth and robust consumer demand.
- The MSCI UK index returned 0.8%, marginally lagging the MSCI World index which grew 0.9% over the period. Within the domestic market, investor sentiment towards UK-focused companies remained constructive, with mid-cap equities advancing 2.0%, compared with a 0.5% gain for large caps.
- The UK economic backdrop remains challenging. Although growth has shown signs of stabilisation, inflation continues to run above the Bank of England's target, limiting policymakers' flexibility to support the economy through lower interest rates. As a result, the Bank Rate remained at 3.75%. Against this backdrop, UK fixed income markets generated modest positive returns, with gilts returning 0.7% and investment-grade sterling corporate bonds gaining 0.6% during the month.
- Globally, market leadership remained concentrated in technology and artificial intelligence companies. However, some of the strongest performing areas earlier in the year experienced a period of consolidation as investors reassessed valuations following exceptionally strong gains. Emerging Asian markets remained among the strongest performers year to date, supported by continued demand for semiconductor and AI themed businesses. China was a significant underperformer, with both MSCI China and Nasdaq Golden Dragon indexes declining substantially.
- Commodity markets experienced a notable correction in June. Brent crude oil fell 19.5% while gold declined 11.7%, reflecting easing concerns around energy supply disruption and a reduced demand for traditional safe haven assets.
- Looking ahead, investors continue to weigh resilient earnings and healthy corporate fundamentals against elevated geopolitical risks, sticky inflation and restrictive monetary policy settings. While periods of volatility are likely, diversified portfolios remain well positioned to navigate the fragile environment.

Important information

Fact sheet asset allocation percentages are in some cases based on the normalised (or benchmark) asset allocations of investee funds, as opposed to the actual exposures of those funds at the date of the fact sheet. This reflects the expected average allocation over time which will result from decisions to hold particular funds.

If you are considering investing in the Momentum Managed Portfolios clients should consult a suitably qualified and approved Financial Adviser. The performance shown represents performance of the Managed Portfolios that are periodically restructured and rebalanced based on the impact of material, economic and market factors that influence MGIM's decision-making on asset allocation. The Managed Portfolios are applied to client accounts by the platform provider but it may take some time for the client accounts to mirror the performance of the Managed Portfolios. It is for this reason that client accounts may not have achieved exactly the same returns as the Managed Portfolios. The performance of the Managed Portfolios is based on the actual performance of the underlying funds included in the portfolios. These performance figures have not been audited by an external body. The value of investments may go down as well as up and the value will depend on fluctuations in financial markets outside MGIM's control, as a result an investor may not get back the amount invested.
