VT Momentum Diversified Income Fund

30 June 2026

For retail investors only

Investment objective & strategy

The Fund aims to deliver an annual level of income (net of fees) in the range of 4% to 6% and to provide capital growth over rolling 6-year periods. It seeks to meet its objective by investing up to 60% of its assets, directly and indirectly, in the shares of companies based in the UK and internationally. The Fund will also invest at least 30% of its assets, directly and indirectly, in fixed interest securities including government and corporate bonds, and cash, near cash, deposits, money market instruments and money market funds.

Monthly commentary

- June was another positive month for markets, with investor sentiment supported by easing concerns around a potential energy shock in the Middle East. While geopolitical tensions initially drove volatility, fears of a prolonged disruption to oil supplies through the Strait of Hormuz faded as signs of de-escalation emerged. The subsequent fall in oil prices helped reduce near-term inflation concerns and provided a more supportive backdrop for risk assets.
- Specialist assets were the largest contributor to Fund performance during the month, supported by strong performance across infrastructure, property and specialist financials. Corporate activity also highlighted the potential value available, with takeover interest in assets such as SEGRO and Bluefield Solar Income Fund demonstrating the disconnect between current share prices and underlying asset values.
- Fixed income delivered modest positive returns. Index-linked gilts were the weakest area, as easing energy prices reduced near-term inflation expectations, although inflation remains above central bank targets.
- Equities made a broadly neutral contribution to Fund performance during the month. Strong returns from UK, US, Japanese and European equity holdings helped offset weakness elsewhere. Defence-related holdings gave back some of their recent gains as easing geopolitical tensions reduced demand for the sector.
- Commodity markets weakened during the month as oil prices fell sharply following easing concerns over supply disruption in the Middle East. Gold also declined, bucking its recent trend of acting more like a risk asset than a defensive one, and almost reasserting its long held inverse relationship with real rates. The Fund had already exited its gold allocation in February, following a period of strong performance.
- Looking ahead, resilient corporate earnings continue to support markets, although current valuations imply high expectations for future earnings growth. Combined with persistent geopolitical uncertainty and inflation remaining sticky, this leaves markets vulnerable to periods of increased volatility. Maintaining diversification across asset classes, investment styles and managers remains central to the Fund's approach.

Fund performance is calculated on a total return basis (including distributions), net of all fees and in GBP terms. The value of the underlying funds and the income generated from them can go down as well as up, and is not guaranteed. Investors may not get back the original amount invested. The value of investments involving exposure to foreign currencies can be affected by currency exchange rate fluctuations. [1]The Fund performance refers to the 'B' Inc share class with the exception of performance prior to 26.03.2012 which is calculated using the 'A' Inc share class, unadjusted for the lower fees of the 'B' Inc share class. †The Historic Net Yield reflects distributions declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the unit price, as at the date shown. It does not include any preliminary charge and investors may be subject to tax on their distributions. A portion of the Fund's expenses are charged to Capital. This has the effect of increasing the distribution(s) for the yearand constraining the Fund's capital performance to an equivalent extent. Past performance is not a guide to future performance.
